COLLECTIVE ACTION ALLEGATIONS

26. The claims in this Complaint arising out of the FLSA are brought by Plaintiff on behalf of himself and other similarly persons who are current and former employees of Parts Authority since the date three years prior to the filing of this Complaint who elect to opt-in to this action (the “FLSA Collective”).

27. On information and belief the FLSA Collective consists of approximately three hundred to five hundred (300 to 500) similarly situated current employees at Parts Authority who have been victims of Defendants’ common policy and practices that have violated their rights under the FLSA by, inter alia, willfully denying them overtime wages.
28. Upon information and belief, each Parts Authority establishment owned by Defendants staffs approximately 5 general laborers, 7 salespeople and 2 cashiers.
29. As part of its regular business practice, Defendants have intentionally, willfully and repeatedly harmed Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective by engaging in a pattern and/or policy of violating the FLSA. This policy and/or policy includes, inter alia, the following:
 - i. failing to pay employees the applicable overtime rate for all time worked in excess of forty (40) hours per week;
 - ii. failing to keep accurate records of hours worked by employees as required by the FLSA and NYLL.
30. Defendants have engaged in their unlawful conduct pursuant to a corporate policy of minimizing labor costs and denying employees compensation. Defendants’ unlawful conduct has been intentional, willful and in bad faith, and has caused significant damage to Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective.
31. The FLSA Collective would benefit from the issuance of a court-supervised notice of the present lawsuit and the opportunity to join the present lawsuit. Those similarly situated employees are known to Defendants, are readily identifiable and locatable through their records. These similarly situated employees should be notified of and allowed to opt into this action, pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b).

32. The FLSA and NYLL require that employers pay all employees at least one and one-half (1.5) times the employee's wage for all hours worked in excess of 40 during any workweek, unless they are exempt from coverage.
33. The position of general laborer is not exempt and has never been exempt.
34. Defendants failed to compensate Plaintiff and members of the FLSA Collective at one and one-half times the employee's wage for all hours worked in excess of 40 during any workweek. The exact accounting of such discrepancy can only be determined upon completion of discovery.
35. Plaintiff and members of the FLSA Collective were not given notice containing the rate or rates of pay and basis thereof, whether paid by the hour, shift, day, week, salary, piece, commission, or other; allowances, if any, claimed as part of the minimum wage, including tip, meal or lodging allowances; the regular pay day designated by the employer in accordance with NYLL § 195(1); and any anything otherwise required by law.
36. Defendants paid Plaintiff and members of the FLSA Collective wages without any accompanying statement listing: the rate or rates of pay and basis thereof, whether paid by the hour, shift, day, week, salary, piece, commission or other; the regular hourly rate or rates of pay; the overtime hours worked; gross wages; deductions; allowances, if any, claimed as part of the minimum wage; and net wages in accordance with NYLL § 195(3).

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

37. Proposed Class. The proposed class comprises all individuals who worked for the Defendants as a general laborer or similarly situated position during the applicable limitations periods, at the Parts Authority locations.
38. Ascertainability. The identity of all class members is readily ascertainable from Defendants' records, and class notice can be provided to all class members by means permitted by Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. To be effective, class notice should be provided not only through written communication to each class member's last known address as reflected in Defendants' records, but also through Spanish language newspaper and radio announcements, workplace postings, and other alternative means of notice designed to reach this class of transient, non-English speaking general laborers. Many class members are no longer employed by Defendants, cannot be reached at the last known address in Defendants' records, and do not have access to traditional English-speaking media.
39. Numerosity. The size of the class makes a class action both necessary and efficient. The size of the class consists of approximately 300-500 employees. Members of the class are ascertainable but so numerous that joinder is impracticable.
40. Common Questions Of Law and Fact. This case poses common questions of law and fact affecting the rights of all class members, including:
- a) the policies, practices, programs, procedures, protocols, and plans of Defendants regarding payment of overtime premiums;
 - b) whether Defendants provided Plaintiffs with accurate wage statements as required under NYLL;
 - c) whether Defendants are joint employers of Plaintiffs and similarly situated employees.

- d) Whether the named Defendants conspired with each other and/or with any unnamed co-conspirator, as alleged herein; and
 - e) What relief is necessary to remedy Defendants' unfair and unlawful conduct as herein alleged.
41. Typicality. The claims of the individual Plaintiffs are typical of the claims of the class as a whole. Defendants' unlawful wage policies and practices, which have operated to deny Plaintiffs the overtime premiums and other compensation, benefits, penalties, and protections required by law, are typical of the unlawful wage policies and practices that have and will continue to operate to deny other class members lawful compensation.
42. Adequacy of Class Representation. The individual Plaintiffs can adequately and fairly represent the interests of the class as defined above, because their individual interests are consistent with, and not antagonistic to, the interests of the class.
43. Propriety of Class Action Mechanism. Defendants have implemented a series of unlawful schemes that are generally applicable to the class, making it appropriate to issue final injunctive relief and corresponding declaratory relief with respect to the class as a whole. Class certification is also appropriate because the common questions of law and fact predominate over any questions affecting only individual members of the class. The prosecution of separate actions against Defendants by individual class members would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudication, which would establish incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants. For all these and other reasons, a class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy set forth in this Complaint.
44. This action is properly maintainable as a class action under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") 23(b)(3).

45. Proposed Class. Plaintiffs bring New York Labor Law (“NYLL”) claims, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23, on behalf of themselves and a class of persons consisting of all non-exempt employees that worked for the Parts Authority stores from February 27, 2011, to the date of final judgment in this matter. (“Rule 23 Class”).
46. Excluded from the Rule 23 Class are Defendants, Defendants’ legal representatives, officers, directors, assignors and successors, or any individual who has, or who at any time during the class period has had, a controlling interest in any of the Defendant entities; the Judge(s) to whom this case is assigned and any member of the Judges’ immediate family; and all persons who will submit timely and otherwise proper requests for exclusion from the Rule 23 Class.
47. The employees in the Rule 23 Class are so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable.
48. Upon information and belief, the size of the Rule 23 Class, which includes current and former employees of the Defendants’ establishments, is approximately 300-500 people. Although the precise number of such employees is unknown, the facts on which the calculation of that number depends are presently within the sole control of Defendants.
49. Common questions of law and fact exist as to the Rule 23 Class that predominate over any questions only affecting them individually and include, but are not limited to, the following:
 - (a) willfully failing to pay its employees, including Plaintiffs and the Class Members, the appropriate overtime wages for hours worked in excess of 40 hours per workweek;

willfully failing to record all of the time that its employees, including Plaintiffs and the Class Members, have worked for the benefit of Defendants;
